Newsletter | Term 3 Week 6 | 29 August 2019

Dear Parents and Carers,

My dad had a unique way of getting us kids excited about going to mass on a Sunday. Once a month he would announce that it was "Mystery Mass" day. This meant that we had no idea where we were going to attend mass, but we knew that it would involve a journey, lots of clues and guesses from us kids, and brunch afterwards in (to us, anyway) some exciting and possibly exotic place! One of my favourite "Mystery Masses" was when we would go into the city and worship at St. Mary's Cathedral. So, last weekend I was in Bathurst for a family weekend away, and we were reminded of our "Mystery Mass" tours. When we went to mass on Sunday, we didn't know anyone, the priest was a stranger and we were definitely going to brunch afterwards! It was so lovely to meet new people and to share a little of ourselves with them, and them with us. Father gave a terrific sermon, which got me thinking about the recent theme over the past few weeks, namely how to enter the Kingdom of Heaven. This week we learned about the "narrow gate" and as Father told us, NO PAIN, NO GAIN! His explanation for this statement was quite enlightening. Basically, without putting in the hard yards in terms of our own spirituality, then entering the Kingdom of God, entering the narrow gate, may prove a bit tricky! It's not enough to rely upon ourselves, to make sure we attend mass, but we need Jesus to show us the way through the narrow gate into the Kingdom of Heaven. If we are too focused on ourselves, we will never be fit enough to squeeze through that narrow gate. We need to be inspired by Jesus, who worked with the marginalised, and realise that everyone deserves a place at the Lord's banquet table... not just those that help themselves! So take some time to help someone else this week... a kind smile, a friendly gesture, a shared cuppa....

These are the little building blocks that help us to become spiritually fit and able to pass through that gate.

From The Principal

Lord, I do desire to enter the narrow gate. I choose to follow Your gentle voice, leading me to Heaven. Help me to remain humble in life, shedding all that leads me to rely upon myself. May I rely only upon You, dear Lord, and trust You in all things. Amen

Voice of Youth

Last Monday I had the privilege of seeing three of our Year Six students present their speeches at the Voice of Youth Competition, held at St. Thomas Aquinas Primary school, Springwood. Our students performed with great poise and dignity and I am pleased to inform that Ann Walker came second, with a terrific speech called 'Get Involved' - an appeal to the youth of the Catholic Church to have a say and be involved in the changing Church of today. Ava O'Leary presented her speech on 'Human Rights', and she appealed to the audience to recognise the marginalised in our society and to act upon it in some small way. Euan Reece gave a speech entitled 'Deforestation', citing the damaging effect of over foresting and clearing on the world. Ann, Ava and Euan were a credit to St. Finbar's and were a true representation of the opinions and concerns of today's youth. Thank you to the teachers, Stage Three students and parents who also attended to support our students.

Sabbath Week

Each term, in week 7, the school pauses from the busyness of life to allow the students and families a brief respite from the daily routine that we all appear to be locked into. Sabbath encourages students and their families to have some respite from home learning and other meetings. Please feel free to use this time as an opportunity to rest and rejuvenate. Spend some time with family or friends, visit someone you haven't seen in a while, make a new friendship and have a play-date after school, visit the church for some quiet prayer reflection during the week. Enjoy Sabbath Week!

May Christ's peace be with you,

Mrs Robyn Clarke
Principal

In Hattie's Visible Learning Meta Data Analysis, he studied what aspects of a school have the greatest impact on student learning.

If you were asked to review this list of nine factors on student learning, how would you rank them? Which ones would you say have the highest or lowest impact on learning?

Expectations; Mastery Learning; Homework; Challenge of Goals; Feedback; Aims & Policies of the School; Ability Grouping; Student Collaboration; Teacher-Student Relationships.

So before you think of your answer, does this statement from Hattie change or help you with your order? All children can learn when they focus on mastering tasks in a collaborative environment, which includes high levels of cooperation between classmates, with focused teacher feedback that is both frequent and diagnostic.

This is the order, with the ones in black indicating that they do not have a positive effect on student growth:

1. Feedback
2. Teacher-Student Relationships
3. Mastery Learning
4. Challenge of Goals
5. Student Collaboration
6. Expectations
7. Homework
8. Aims & Policies of the School
9. Ability Grouping

So, with feedback being number one, having nearly double the positive effect on student learning than the average, how do we ensure feedback is given?

As a guide, we will ensure:

- Quality feedback is given, not more feedback;
- Feedback is acted on, by targeting lessons to support gaps and scaffolding lessons for students to support mastery of learning;
- Students have a Growth Mindset. Students with a Growth Mindset welcome feedback and are more likely to use it to improve their performance;
- Oral feedback is much more effective than written;
- That students provide feedback to teachers. For example, through our Show Us What You Knows, teachers capture students' understanding, knowledge and skills before a learning sequence is commenced. Hattie tells us that the most powerful feedback is provided from the student to the teacher.

It is interesting to see ability grouping down the bottom. The research tells us that student learning is far greater when students work in mixed ability groups. Class ability grouping and within class ability grouping have a uniformly low impact on learning. It means we learn better from each other, when we all have different strengths and weaknesses: socially, emotionally, physically and academically.

Mountains Live

Last Monday, our Stage 3 students supported our school finalists at the Voice of Youth Cluster Finals, along with St Canice's, Our Lady of Nativity and St Thomas Aquinas students.

Following the Voice of Youth, all the students participated in the first ever 'Mountains Live' event at St Thomas Aquinas Church.

The event was an opportunity for our students to celebrate, witness and connect with each other in a fun, engaging spiritual gathering. The theme mirrored this year's Australian Catholic Youth Festival "Listen to what the Spirit is Saying".

The students also heard from St Columba's College School Captain, Mollie Bauerhuit and her experiences at this year's World Youth Day.

A big thanks to the Parramatta Catholic Youth Team who gave the children a Spirit filled afternoon of song and prayer.

Justice League Winter Appeal

A big THANK YOU from the Justice League for all the kind donations to our St Vincent De Paul Winter Appeal. We were able to fill numerous tubs which will be distributed (by St Vincent De Paul) to families who are in need this winter.

To all our Dads, Stepdads, Grandfathers and Carers,

Wishing you all a wonderful Father's Day this weekend. May you be spoilt with love, kindness and cuddles. It's your special day where you are remembered for all the wonderful things you do for your children/families and the selfless love you share.

We hope you can join us tomorrow morning for a yummy breakfast (commencing at 8.30am) and some soccer shootouts on the school field. Our school liturgy will follow at 9.15am in the Parish Hall, to celebrate your special day.

REMINDER that students are encouraged to wear their favourite team jerseys on Friday.

Parish Mass every Tuesday

Throughout the term, each class joins St Finbar's parish community for Mass, on a Tuesday at 9am. Please note the date your child's class will be attending mass this term. We warmly invite all parents and parishioners to join us. Parents are invited to sit with their children during Parish Mass.
